

JAYNE KOSS

OWNER, CVT, LAT

Hi there!

I began my journey toward veterinary medicine 31 years ago at age 18, working as a kennel technician, which ignited my lifelong love for animals. I graduated from Median School of Allied Health Careers in 1993, and completed my externship at the University of Pittsburgh.

That opportunity led me into six years of research work with a wide variety of species, including pigs, sheep, primates, rabbits, and rodents.

After taking time off to raise my two boys, I shifted my focus to companion animals. I know firsthand what pets mean to their families, and that perspective guides everything I do.

Every pet is treated like family in my book.

As a standard poodle owner, I also flame my passion with creative grooming, helping pet parents keep their multi-legged children clean, healthy, and beautiful. I take pride in not only grooming but also helping identify when something may need veterinary attention, ensuring pets receive the comprehensive care they deserve.

Outside of work, I enjoy putting on my roller skates to relieve stress, spending time outdoors, and making memories with family and friends. I truly love connecting with clients and educating them on the very best care for their beloved pets.

Meet the staff pets: Dice, the Rainbow Poodle, and Raeden. 🐾

JUSTICE

Pet Groomer

Hey, I'm Justice!

I have been grooming for just shy of 4 years now. While I am still relatively young in the dog grooming world, I am not new to my love of pets. I have been involved in the dog world since I was a young child! My grooming career began at Petco, where I learned the basics. From there, I have continued to educate myself, attending one-on-one classes and seminars to acquire more knowledge and skills.

I have completed Macie Pisa's Difficult Dog Course to better understand how to help your baby be more calm, relaxed, and safely groomed. The grooming industry is continuously evolving, with new information being shared. It's my goal to obtain this knowledge to better serve you and your fur babies! I have also officially started competitive grooming with my own mini poodle. When I'm not grooming, I'm watching YouTube videos of dog grooming for techniques and fun new styles—I am pretty immersed in this! I look forward to meeting you and your furry friends and taking care of them as if they were my own!

See you soon!

DANIELLE

Pet Groomer

I began my career in a corporate grooming salon in 2000 and got my first show dog in 2003. Soon after, I became a grooming instructor within the company, spending 12 years teaching others to groom both dogs and cats. Eventually, I grew tired of the corporate setting and started my own business, The Dirty Dog. Around that same time, I began professionally handling dogs in the show ring.

After 20 years in the industry, I took a break to have my children. Now, I'm lucky enough to be working for Aunt Jayne, doing what I love.

ANNETTE

Annette Marshall started her grooming career in 2001 working as a bather. She loved the job so much, she decided to take her skills to the next level and got accepted into the Romani school of pet grooming in 2004.
