Classic Style

The word “classic” denotes timeless quality; something that never gets old. Certain design are destined to pass the test of time. They transcend epochs and fads with enviable ease. Classic can two centuries. The three architectural orders most readily recognizable by the type of column they employ go back to ancient Greece. A classic design captures everyting that was good and attractive about the era it comes from while eschewing the superfluous. Here, each classic door model bears unmistakable signs of the epouch by which it was inspired, with distinct Renaissance, Batoque, Classicism, or Art Nouveau features, with French, Italian, British, or Colonial overtones.

Non Mortise Hinges

Frameless doors have a high level of strength and stiffness and high level of soundproofing. They are resistant to high humidity, temperature resistant to changes in temperature and to door leaf shrinkage.

Constructive structure consists of: sandwich panel (MDF, a bar of pine), located inside the door leaf between two MDF panels (6 mm), cavities in the door of such a design with foam.

The leaf can have a different decor on each side of the door. The set of Invisible frame and leaf is equipped with Concealed hinges from Italian production.

Frameless Doors

Rubber Seal

Every door model features special sealing gaskets. These provide a silent door closure and additional soundproofing. When the door is shut, their unique shape absorbs the contact between the door and door stop, eliminating the sound of slamming and protecting the finish surface from damage.

Door Types

Looking for doors that won't take up a lot of space? Or, to make the interior of your home more interesting, you need a door that will look kind of special? Maybe you would like to zone your room space with a door? In order to solve any of your problems, Teo Doors offers a wide range of the door opening types. Almost any slab in the catalog can be made in one of these specifications.

Solid 35 mm or 22 mm thick rail

CPL surface or PREMIUM laminate which is both good-looking and durable

Solid dowel joint
